I want to add an object from the Python server to the JavaScript client. The object is named Date and it has the following code: class Date: def __init__(self, d): self.day = d.day self.month = d.month self.year = d.year def __repr__(self): return str(self.day) + '/' + str(self.month) + '/' + str(self.year) Example of date sending (in Python): import time time.sleep(1) d1 = Date(2, 8, 2014) d2 = Date(2, 6, 2014) send = d1.__repr__() print send Example of receiving and storing (in Node.js): var request = require('request'); var http = request.defaults({poolSize:1}); http.get("", function (error, response, body) { console.log(response.statusCode); console.log(body); }); I'm running the server locally and my client is local too. If I send the object d1 from Python directly to the Node.js server, I get the following error: { [Error: getaddrinfo ENOTFOUND] code: 'ENOTFOUND', errno:

Dec 31, 2020 The Rippingtons Discography (1987 2011).rar . Many people are using the internet to download free music, movies, books, etc. Yes, in 2000, when I was born, my dad taught me how to play guitar, and I learned to play all these songs and to sing all these songs. When we were recording those albums, I'd just learn the songs and I'd say, "Can I sing this?" They said, "You sing whatever you like," and I'd just sing these songs. I would, like, start singing all the songs and ask what I should sing next. I used to just learn everything. That's what I did in 2001, after my daughter, Megan, was born. I would sit at home and learn how to play all these songs. I didn't have a guitar at the time; I was just learning from the record collections, so I would just go through and learn all the songs and listen to them on my little 8-track player that my dad bought me. I would learn the songs and then I'd be practicing, so I could play along with them. That's what I did in 2001. I still do that. I learn how to play all these songs, and I sing along. I used to love singing along with all the songs, and then I would be practicing so I could play along with them when I'd play on stage. That's when I started getting the stage feeling and the stage performance going. All these songs were playing in the background and I was just singing along with them. I was learning all these songs. I just did that for years. I was always learning, listening to everything and just singing and playing along with the records. I really enjoy listening to all these old songs. I used to play my guitar while I was pregnant with my daughter, Megan, in 2001. Yes, in 2001, I was singing along with all these songs, like a big group. When I was singing, I'd be trying to sing like all these people I'd listen to. When I was eight months pregnant, I'd just listen to this record of the National Symphony Orchestra, and then I'd sing along with it. I'd be just trying to sing like what I heard. I was trying to sing like everybody. I loved to sing. I'd sing all the songs along with my dad, and all the songs my mom 2d92ce491b
