Here's our pick of the best local food trucks in Plano. If you know of any other great food trucks in Plano, let us know. Abe's Steak Company Abe's Steak Company brought its upscale-style traditional steakhouse to Plano in 2015, inspired by the chef and owner's successful catering operations. It's a successful business in Austin, too, thanks in large part to its wealth of accolades. Abe's Steak Company opened in an old department store at the corner of Dallas Parkway and Spring Creek Parkway. It doesn't have a lot of parking, so be careful when you park. The restaurant has a very big bar and is open for lunch and dinner, serving dishes like steak and ribeye, salads, pastas, sandwiches and burgers. It's served wrapped in a tortilla with a house-made pineapple salsa, then slow-cooked on the grill. Each taco comes with a side of cabbage and cabbage chips with crema ranch or queso. The al pastor is a tasty, juicy beef shoulder cut marinated in onions, garlic, cilantro, lime and orange juice. The carne asada comes served with house-made guacamole and cabbage with crema ranch.
