The tags area has also received an update, as users can now search inside the tags area using the search bar or the new magnifier. The tags area widget has also been improved, as it now has a magnifier, which will allow users to see the details of the file they are viewing. We have also improved the search widget, as it now allows users to search directly from the list, by using the search bar and the magnifier. We have also improved the file tree, as it now has the possibility to show or hide the file tree. Creating games in C++ is now easier thanks to GameStudio C++. You will now be able to use a drag-and-drop interface with your own C++ project. The drag-and-drop feature is used to move and copy all the files used by the project.
